Jacquie and Hannah would like to give special thanks to all the Chaperones and supporters that have helped made this show possible. Thanks also go to all of those parents and members who have helped with this production in any way. Once again they appreciate the time and effort, commitment and sacrifices made to ensure youngsters are taken and delivered to and from rehearsals ensuring a full turn out by cast and crew.

THE Archway YOUTH WORKSHOP

It is 14 years since Jacquie & Eddie Redfern took over the Youth Workshop. Over the years hundreds of children have joined and passed through the workshop. Some are now established adult members of the Archway Theatre; many have moved on to study Drama or Theatre at college. We have never professed to be a 'stage school' our aims have always been to provide each child with an opportunity to discover their talents, their individuality and to be aware of other people's abilities. The workshops are not just for the confident or those that want to be centre stage. We know just how far some of these children have come and to see them standing in front of an audience proves that our workshop aims can and do work.

Next year marks Jacquie & Eddie's 15th year of running the Youth Workshops and we hope to celebrate this with past and present work-shoppers with a special production, not to be missed.
